The installer does a check of all connected MIDI cables on your machine, if it finds they are all connected it says "Please disconnect all cables" and after you disconnect the last cable it launches Live. I get a couple warnings that the package is unsigned or something but it does not give any further error messages. As a warning - you may have to buy the full version when you first try it. But I find that the free version opens up all the sounds and has all the programs you need.
